Job Details

Designation: Business Consultant

Type: Consulting

Place of Posting: Tokyo, Japan

Job Details: Business Consultant

Business consultants are leaders in addressing the complex business challenges of companies and public institutions, charting a course for reform, and utilizing cutting-edge technology to promote and execute projects.

Business consultants conceptualize and design next-generation models for business, operations, and IT.

Business consultants review and redesign organizations and operations based on the grand design.

Business consultants use their extensive knowledge of emerging technologies in IT design, system integration, implementation, and operations representation to support your business.

Business consultants develop strategies, define evolutionary themes, and implement reforms to address business issues in companies and industries."

Depending on the role, business consultants may also establish and manage joint ventures, or work closely with specific clients for a long time after the transformation.

Business consultants' areas of practice include sales, marketing, supply chains, product development and manufacturing, human resources and organization, finance and corporate value creation, etc.

Career Path:

You will start as an analyst.
